The Regina Collegiate Institute

INCE the Regina Collegiate Institute was organised in 1907, every effort has been put forth to make it one of the foremost and best Collegiate Institutes in the Province, and such a task has not been an easy one because of the rapid development of the West and the increasing demand for higher education. When the additions now being made to the Collegiate are completed our building will be one of the largest and best equipped schools of the Dominion. Provision is being made for three science rooms, an art room, a commercial department, a library, two students' reading rooms, a teachers' room, a board room, an auditorium and twelve regular class rooms. Apart from the main building is the gymnasium which will be, when finished, one of the most complete of its kind and should prove to be of great value in the physical development of our students.

We feel that Regina is and has been particularly fortunate in the selection of the Collegiate Board of Trustees. Too much cannot be said of the generous disposition of their valuable time and thought towards the educational needs of the city. Their position is one without direct remuneration other than the satisfaction of a task well done, yet, no matter what problem presents itself for solution they are always ready to consider it on its merits without regard to their time or private sentiment. The task of providing buildings, teaching staff and suitable equipment for the proper presentation of the subjects taught at the Collegiate is of itself a very onerous one. This is associated very intimately with the ever-changing conditions of a rapidly developing community, which demand attention, not only for the needs of today but also for those of the future. Our Collegiate is exacting a lot of time and attention at the present time from its Board of Trustees, and the citizens of Regina may feel assured that such demands are met cheerfully and adequately. At present, the staff consists of twelve competent teachers, all of whom are specialists in their respective departments, and men and women of the highest attainments both morally and mentally. During the past year there have been many changes on the staff. At Easter, Mr. Hector Lang, B.A., who had been associated with the school for about seven years as assistant for one year and principal for six years, resigned to go into business at Medicine Hat. It was with sincere regret that his resignation was accepted as the board, teaching staff and students, all alike, had learned to hold Mr. Lang in very high esteem. At all times he gave to those about him and to his duties the best of which he was capable, and this faithful service could only secure the kindly regard of those about him and a high degree of success for the school. After Mr. Lang's resignation, Mr. Norman MacMurchy, B.A., was appointed Principal and Dr. N. F. Black, M.A., Vice Principal. Dr. R. A. Wilson, M.A., who had been Vice Principal of the Collegiate for the past three years was appointed Principal of the Normal School at Regina, Sask., at the beginning of the year, and although we all regretted to have Dr. Wilson leave us still we were pleased with his success. At the opening of the present school year, Mr. R. Weir, B.A., of Wingham, Ontario, joined the staff as teacher of mathematics and cadet corps instructor. About the first of December, 1912, Mr. J. E. Campbell, B.A., of Fergus, Ont., was appointed to teach mathematics and science, and Mr. R. R. Kersey, M.A., of Galt, succeeded Dr. R. A. Wilson in English and History.

Besides the regular courses as prescribed by the regulations of the Department of Education, there are special courses provided in Physical Training, Drawing and Commerce. The Cadet Corps has been well organised this year and consists of two companies each about seventy strong. We are pleased with the Cadet Corps and feel that it is doing exceptionally good work in training the students both physically and morally. While the boys have their training in Cadet work and physical drill, the girls are given a course in calisthenics, and this is especially appreciated by the girls, who enter into these exercises in good spirit. The erection of the gymnasium will be a great help in this part of our school work.

The course in drawing is considerably more comprehensive than that provided by the regulations, and the evidence of its success may be easily ascertained by a careful study of the work in this souvenir number. We are of the opinion that a good course in drawing both as a fine art and as a science, is of great value as an educational factor in the development of a student's faculties. The commercial department has been handicapped a little for want of space during the past year, but, with the new building a complete commercial course will be given to include a training in the subjects of Bookkeeping, Penmanship, Business Arithmetic, Composition, Spelling, Business Correspondence, Stenography, Typewriting and Commercial Law.

We have three Literary Societies in the school, one for the first year students, another for those of the second year and a third for the third and fourth year students. We find by this division a better opportunity is given to the students to take part in the various literary meetings and that the meetings are more easily adapted to the needs of the students of the different grades of the school. The Balfour Oratory Contest, described later in this publication, results in great good to our Literary Societies. The boys and girls have their separate athletic organizations, and a fairly detailed account of their various sports may be seen further on in the book. Not a little of the success of these organizations is due to the sympathetic and enthusiastic manner in which the teaching staff join the students in the sports of the schools.

Our Collegiate is being equipped as a first class collegiate should be. Each year appropriations are made by the Board for science equipment and supplies in Art both for teaching purposes in the Art Room and for the decoration of the school, for fitting up the Collegiate grounds, which are rapidly becoming one of the beauty spots of the city, and for library purposes. It is very difficult to estimate the value of a well equipped school in the educational development of students. The school building and its equipment cannot be too good for the children because of the paramount importance of environment in education.

But even when we have a broad-minded and sympathetic Board of Trustees, a capable and thoroughly efficient staff of teachers, a well equipped school building, we cannot have a thoroughly successful school nor can we accomplish the aim of a modern school if we do not have the hearty good-will and co-operation of the parents of the students and of the community as a whole. The parents must accord every assistance possible to the staff who are ever anxious to come in closer contact with the parents of the students with whom they are associated from day to day.

In closing, we wish to thank the Regina public for their very generous attitude toward our school and its many phases of Hoffnung.

Es reden und träumen die Menschen viel
 Von bessern künft'gen Tagen;
 Nach einem glücklichen goldenen Ziel
 Zieht man sie rennen und jagen.
 Die Welt wird alt und wird wieder jung,
 Doch der Mensch hofft immer Verbesserung.

Die Hoffnung führ ihn in's Leben ein,
 Sie umflattert den fröhlichen Knaben,
 Den Jüngling locket ihr Zaubererschein,
 Sie wird mit dem Greis nicht begraben;
 Denn beschließt er im Grabe den müden Lauf,
 Noch am Grabe pflanzt er — die Hoffnung auf.

Es ist kein leerer, schmeichelnder Wahn,
 Erzeugt im Gehirne des Toren;
 Im Herzen kündigt es laut sich an:
 Zu was Besserm sind wir geboren;
 Und was die innere Stimme spricht,
 Das täuscht die hoffende Seele nicht.

Hope.

We ever hear men speak and dream
 Of a happier future stage;
 We ever seek with the rushing stream
 For a better, a golden age.
 The Earth becomes old and young again,
 But man still hopeth for freedom from pain.

'Tis Hope that ushers him into life,
 That surroundeth the care-free boy,
 That lureth the youth with her pleasures rife,
 And with age still does not die;
 For the grave may enclose the mortal mould,
 But Hope o'er the grave will her leaves unfold

It is not an empty delusion of man,
 Wrought out in a foolish brain,
 For it loudly speaks of a better land,
 And a higher forgotten aim.
 For the soul that hopes is ne'er deceived,
 By the secret thoughts in the heart believed.

Little Moccasin and the Buffalo Stone

Many years ago, long before Whoop Up, Stand Off or Slide Out had been heard of, a small band of Blood Indians, having loaded their travaux with their worldly possessions, left their winter camp in Bull Horn Coulee and trailed north. The past winter had been a severe one for the Indians as the buffalo kill the preceding autumn had been very light and their supply of jerked beef and pemmican had early been exhausted. They had eked out a living as best they could, tiding over hungry times with dog or coyote.

The band, led by a minor chief, who, however, was noted as a mighty hunter, intended to scour the Porcupine Hills and the valley between these and the Livingstone

Range for buffalo. The Indians hoped to find a small band of these animals, which, separated from the main herd, might have wintered among the hills instead of migrating south. But their quest proved unsuccessful.

Near the Old Man River the Indians halted and camped. Each day the bravest took bows and arrows and went out in search of the much-needed food the squaws usually remaining in camp to do the work. No traces of the buffalo, however, could be found, and the Indians were facing starvation.

Second only to the chief as a hunter was Eagle Feather, whose tepee lay nearest the river. This brave had for some time been lying by the fire in his lodge, his two squaws going noiselessly about their tasks. Now Eagle Feather rose, took his bow and arrows, and, with a grunt and a jerk of the head in the direction of the Weasel to signify that she should follow him, strode out of the tent. With the squaw following at a respectful distance he set off for the day's hunt.

Little Moccasin looked after the pair a trifle wistfully. That she was not the favorite of Eagle Feather she knew well and the Weasel maliciously reminded her of the fact upon every opportunity. When the receding figures had passed from her view behind a little bluff she gathered the day's supply of firewood and then taking a vessel went down to the river for water.

The river shore on this side sloped gradually to the water, while on the opposite side a steep yellow cut-bank rose. The squaw went slowly down to the river's edge and bent over to fill her vessel. As she did so Little Moccasin saw a small dark stone half imbedded in the sand. Wondering at the frog-like shape she picked it up. Suddenly a scene flashed before her eyes, one that she had witnessed years before, when as a little child, at a peace treaty made by the Cree and Blackfeet nations, she had overheard a Cree chief telling another brave of a rare magical stone. A feeling of awe crept over Little Moccasin as she recalled that the Cree had said the stone was shaped rather like a frog. Could it be that here was such a magic stone?

Suddenly close by a voice spoke her name, "Little Moccasin, if you wish the buffalo to come you must rub the stone."

The squaw looked about her but could see no one. "It was a spirit," she whispered, and frightened, turned and ran swiftly away holding the stone tightly in her hand. In the absence of the chief she at once sought the Medicine Man, and asked his advice concerning the strange stone.

The Buffalo Stone

The Medicine Man heard the story in silence and remained motionless for a time as if in profound thought. At length he solemnly spoke: "You have truly found a wonderful charm. If the braves return without food you shall rub the stone, Little Moccasin."

The hunters, empty handed and sullen, returned, one by one, in the late afternoon. The Medicine Man hastened to the chief to tell the story of Little Moccasin. Immediately she was brought before the chief. The stone was reverently examined, whereupon he commanded, "Rub the stone!" and, with trembling fingers, the squaw obeyed. Eagle Feather sprang to his feet, and followed by the other braves, strode from the lodge. As his keen eyes swept the surrounding country, Eagle Feather uttered an exclamation and raised his hand to point to where on the side of a low hill was a dark moving mass. With eager haste the braves caught up bows and arrows and went to the hunt.

That night the Indians feasted. The dread of hunger in the months to come was gone. The oldest brave of the band had never seen such hordes of buffalo. The marvellous stone was given to Little Moccasin and she herself was treated with the deference due a being under the special protection of a mighty spirit. Much to the discomfiture of the Weasel, she became the favorite of Eagle Feather and was considered an oracle by all her people.

For many years Little Moccasin treasured the precious Buffalo Stone. But when her son came forth from the Sun Dance Lodge, after passing through the ordeal of being made a brave Little Moccasin, then an old woman presented him the magic charm, bidding him value it more than his life.

After Little Mocassin's discovery of the stone, a thorough search was made of the banks of the rivers east of the Rockies. Although several similar stones were found it is not known whether they proved to possess such magical power as that found by Little Moccasin. The Indians, however, prized them very highly, and, though today their faith in the Buffalo Stone has been weakened, they still regard them as very precious charms.

The Sport of Time

In March's Halls King Time kept court
With all his regal pomp and sport;
And thither came with angry pace,
With warlike mein, and hurried grace.

The boisterous Seasons—Spring and Winter.

Said Time, "I knew this soon would be
Each year you, fighting, come to me;
Each year your burning hate appears
In March, O Sons of passing years:

What want ye, Seasons, Spring and Winter?"

"Tis right," said Spring, "O Time, my liege,
That Winter should withhold his siege
From off the fertile plains of Sask.;
Let me rule there—'tis all I ask."

O rival Seasons—Spring and Winter!

Said Winter, "On these prairies wide
I love to roam, to roar, to ride;
In ice-fort strong I'll keep the key,
And ne'er an inch I'll yield to thee."

"What foolish boast!" said Spring to Winter.

So Time, he put them forth to fight
On Sask.'s fair plains to see who's right;
But on Spring's side he pressed his finger
That he might overbalance Winter.

So fought the Seasons—Spring and Winter.

Then people said, when chance they could,
Through snow, through rain, through sleet,
through mud,

"Now on the prairies near and far
Those dreadful Seasons are at war.

Those frightful Seasons—Spring and Winter!"

At last the conqueror was Spring;
But he not long was prairie's king;
For launching her golden shafts through space,
Queen Summer drove him from his place.

So ended Seasons—Spring and Winter.

Ancient History

My children, by the fireside
In this age of haste uncouth
Let my thoughts now turn aside
To sweet memories of my youth;
Let me dream the whole day long
And bring those memories near
Which made my youth a song—
‘Ancient History Granny Dear !’

If you but knew, my children,
How fair and sweet then all were we,
With our sashes of gay ribbon,
Our laces fine and dainty;
Days of youthful love were those.
Men had not yet learned to sneer
Women had not learned to pose—
‘Ancient History Granny Dear !’

Of politics never a word
To lady’s drawing room came;
No piano discord heard,
No tea of English name;
But a compliment well turned
An epigram quite clear;
Favor, then, by wit was earned—
‘Ancient History Granny Dear !’

Noble poets then had we
With genius clear and fine,
Much greater than have ye.
And with modesty sublime;
Much less formal was their pen,
‘They sang out in accents clear;
French they wrote for Frenchmen—
‘Ancient History Granny Dear !’

No one now would ever guess
That ours was all the glory,
All the laurels of success
And the palms of victory;
Loved and dreaded much were we,
And the nations far and near
Sang our praise on bended knee—
‘Ancient History Granny Dear !’

Vieille Histoire

Mes enfants au coin de feu,
Quand chacun de nous se presse,
Laissez-moi penser un peu
Au vieux temps de ma jeunesse.
Laissez-moi rêver toujours
Au souvenir séculaire
Qui berça mes premiers jours—
—‘Vieille Histoire, ma grand’mère’ !

Si vous saviez, mes enfants,
Comme alors nous étions belles,
Avec nos flots de rubans.
Avec nos fines dentelles.
C’ était le temps des amours
Les hommes cherchaient à plaire,
Les femmes plaisaient toujours—
—‘Vieille Histoire ma grand’mère’ !

Loin de nos salons, alors
On faisait la politique,
Point de pianos discordes,
Et point de thé Britannique;
Mais un compliment bien dit,
Une épigramme légère
De la grâce et de l’esprit—
—‘Vieille Histoire, ma grand’mère’ !

Alors nous avions, enfants,
Des écrivains de génie
Ils étaient beaucoup plus grands
Avec plus de modestie.
Ils avaient moins de procédés,
Ils apprenaient la grammaire
Ils écrivaient en français—
—‘Vieille Histoire, ma grand’mère’ !

Mes enfants, si vous saviez,
Nous avions toutes les gloires,
Les poétiques lauriers
Et la palme des victoires.
Tout s’inclinait devant nous,
Et les peuples de la terre
Nous admiraient à genoux,
—‘Vieille Histoire, ma grand’mère’ !

The Senior Limericks

ALLBRIGHT, NELLIE:

We must not forget Nellie Allbright
Over whom the boys ever will all fight;
She's got a sweet smile,
Can be seen for a mile,
And that is why Nellie is all right.

BURNETT, NORLAINE:

All honor to Norlaine Burnett,
A Senior in sketching, you bet;
Short stories she writes,
Does her homework at nights;
Her reward she will earn—and will get.

COLBECK, EDNA:

Now at Edna we'll take a good look
Who dotes on a monstrous big book,
She has learned all the mystery
Hid in Green's History,
And what's more, she will make a good cook.

COCHRANE, FLORENCE:

To the Senior Form entered our Florence,
Whose knowledge came out quite in torrents,
For she'd work and she'd dig
At Physics and Trig,
And for idleness had an abhorrence.

DOWSWELL, LELA:

Behold: A sweet face; Lela Dowswell
Thinks a game, I can't tell you, is how swell.
When she smiles on her host,
He commences to boast;
And the sport of the evening then goes well.

FURST, IRENE:

I now introduce Irene FURST,
Of all the bad girls she's the worst;
She makes pictures and jokes
About other poor folks,
And if she keeps on she'll be blessed.

GALLON, GERALDINE:

Here's a picture of dear little Gerry;
She's a peach and a plum and a cherry;
You'd not know by her looks,
But she just gobbles books,
And drinks down all learning like sherry.

MARTIN, EMMA:

Alas! Who could limerickize Emma?
To discover a rhyme 's a dilemma.
But we'll just do our best
To treat her like the rest;
And if we can't get a rhyme, we'll condemn her.

MATCHETT, ALICE:

Let us now introduce Alice Matchett,
If there's anything going, she'll catch it;
Her science is good
And she eats Lit. like food.
When the right man arrives, may they match it !

MUIR, ANNIE:

We shall now mention Miss Annie Muir,
Who hopes some day people to cure;
When she hands men their dope,
They will wish to clope
With the charming and clever Doc Muir.

MYERS, CORA:

There once was a girl in this city,
Whose name will be found in this ditty.
For Cora was wise,
In the morning she'd rise
To study, which surely was gritty.

McKEE, ESTHER:

There once was a girl called McKee,
And she was just as wise as could be;
And when asked to debate,
She said: "It's too late
In the term to expect this of me."

SMITH, ELIZABETH:

Elizabeth Smith we present
Who we fear, for hard work, was not meant,
She is tall and sedate;
And tho' often she's late,
The world, with her seems quite content.

STEWART, PEARL:

We'll next take a note of Pearl Stewart,
Who is almost too good for a curate;
If you but heard her sing,
You would like her, By Jing;
So be sure to be friends with Pearl Stewart.

BALFOUR, JAMES:

In hockey, our captain's Jim Balfour,
To a match he contributes it's welfare;
He's straightforward and shy,
But that look in his eye
Seem to say that—but what should I tell for?

BOYCE, WILFRED:

'Tis our dear molecule microscopic
When the girls wag their heads he's the topic;
And it's sport how the lasses
All put on their glasses
Each day to discern whether Justice has yet had her due and Wilfred been assassinated.

BROWN, ARTHUR:

There dwells a good youth in our town
 On whom no stern teacher could frown;
 He's a corker at Latin,
 Soaks up learning like battin';
 Yet he'll not paint things red—just A. Brown

CAMERON, DALLAS:

This modest young student is Dallas,
 A worshipper true of wise Pallas;
 He stays home when measly,
 Catches up easily
 And never will rouse any malice.

DEAN, OLIVER:

Full sure to win fame is O. Dean,
 He's so notably long and eke lean
 That in ten years, I know,
 He'll be in a side show,
 And the world will crowd round to see Dean.

HASTINGS, WALTER:

Alas, for our athletic Walter!
 We've a vision of him in a halter;
 His charms are too many;
 Led by some Kit or Jenny,
 He'll be sure to go soon to the altar.

LONGWORTHY, HAROLD:

This youth is the gay ragtime Pete,
 Who in hockey's a hard one to beat.
 He's a very strong worthy,
 Also a Longworthy,
 And he has not a grain of conceit.

MARTIN, FRED.:

This hero is President Martin,
 Eke cap. of cadets, and a smart 'un;
 Such distinction to reach
 Guarantees him a peach,
 But he'll never be plucked; that is sartin.

McEWEN, GEORGE:

Alack for a rhyme for "McEwen"!
 I could use one right here if I knew one,
 But to write limericks
 When folks' names play such tricks
 Is a strain, so please, George, get a new one.

MURRAY, JAMES:

Make way for our stalwart Cap. Murray,
 That cloud is not wrath, only worry,
 But he need not thus fret
 For he'll "get there" safe yet,
 Though like others he'll be wiser to hurry.

NICHOL, FRED.:

Behold here, one Frederick Nichol,
Who your ears with his music can tickle;
He is romantic and soulful
And sometimes he's doleful,
But, girls, just make sure he's not fickle.

PEACOCK, HERBERT:

This youth is our Herbert erratic,
Over books he does not grow ecstatic,
When all else quite fails,
He for school "sets his sails,"
If you'll pardon that figure aquatic.

RAMSAY, BEATTIE:

But stop! clear the way for B. R.,
His fame has been blown afar;
Fair Lumsden's his home,
When from here he must roam
May they send us another such star.

Not Another Step

Pat got on the rear end of a crowded street car and was obliged to steady himself against the door.

"Move up" shouted the conductor at every street as more passengers were taken on. Pat moved up a step each time, but at the next stop he got mad and he yelled back at the conductor: "Bedad, I paid to ride. Do you expect me to walk all the way home?"

STEWART, HAROLD:

Lefty Louis is sometimes called Stewart;
Let us hope he will get him a new heart;
With his Black-hand forsook,
He'd make good as a cook;
For the Stewart should well know the Stew-art.

TANNER, CLARENCE:

There is a gay gallant called Tanner,
Exceedingly charming of manner,
But he smiles during French
And gets moved up a bench,
That's Happy-go-lucky young Tanner

WELLS, HAROLD:

Attention! the gallant scout Wells!
Of travels away off he tells.
But he went and he left us,
Of his presence bereft us,
Our heart, when we think of him, swells

The Literary Society 1912-13

Although the Literary Society has always played a prominent part in the student's education, this year it has exerted a greater influence than ever. This is due chiefly to the new organisation of the society.

Owing to the large number of students in attendance this year it was thought that the one general society would not be able to serve all the students equally well. Consequently the main society was subdivided into three lesser organisations, the Senior Literary Society, for the Students of the Senior and Middle School; the Second Year Literary Society for its students, and one for the first year. These met on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons of each week respectively. Students from the Senior Literary Society only were allowed to compete in the Balfour Oratory Contest.

Each of these societies elected its own chairman, secretary and form representatives; the chairman to hold office for one month only. These committees arranged for the weekly programmes and controlled any entertainments that were for their own students, while the general business pertaining to the Literary Society was conducted by the Main Executive. To the careful attention and the activity of this Executive is due the success of the At Home, which was held in December, 1912 and the publication of this Souvenir Number in 1913.

The personnel of the Executive is as follows:

Honorary President . . .	Mr. Justice J. T. Brown
Honorary 1st Vice President . . .	J. A. Allan, Esq.
Honorary 2nd Vice President . .	Mrs. Robert Sinton

THE WINNERS OF THE CONTEST FOR 1912-13 WERE:
LELA DOWSWELL AND ROBERT TURRIFF

The Balfour Oratory Contest

In 1903, Mr. Jas. Balfour, the present Chairman of the Board of Trustees for the Regina Collegiate Institute, donated medals to be competed for annually in the Balfour Oratory Contest. This contest extends over the school year under the guidance of the Literary Society, and, during the past few years, has taken the form of a series of debates, throughout which a special committee, chosen from the teaching staff and the students, is expected to take notes of the debates and select the best speakers. From these students thus chosen three girls and three boys are elected to take part in a final debate to which the public is invited.

The judges of this debate have a very onerous task imposed upon them because of the dual duty expected of them to decide the debate and to determine the best speaker from the three girls and the best from the three boys.

The students have always entered into the contest with splendid spirit and great good has been obtained by the students because of this opportunity to cultivate the art of public speaking.

The prize winners in the contest since its beginning are as follows:

1903—Miss Bessie Stewart, Miss Mabel Scott, Mr. Stanley Skeene.

1904—Miss Vera Trew, Mr. Walter Low.

1905—Miss Irene Gray, Mr. Orson Dane.

1906—Miss Pearl Dowswell, Mr. A. C. West.

1907—Miss Mabel Marshall, Mr. Arthur Chatwin.

1908—Miss Thurza Boies, Mr. Douglas Fraser

1909—Miss Hester Young, Mr. W. C. Laird.

1910—Miss Etta Boies, Mr. C. E. Smith.

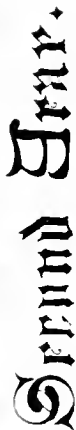

1911—Miss Edith Longworthy, Mr. Emmet McCusker.

1912—Miss Eva Creighton, Mr. Don McCannel.

1913—Miss Lela Dowswell, Mr. Robert Turriff.

This year the final debate was held Thursday evening, May 8th. The subject was, "Resolved, that the state should henceforth gradually acquire and control all public utilities such as telegraph, telephone and express systems." The affirmative side of the question was upheld by Messrs. Fred. Martin, Wilfred Wilson and Robert Turriff, while the negative was taken by Misses Lela Dowswell, Geraldine Gallon and Sadie Hogarth. The judges awarded the debate to the negative and the medals to Miss L. Dowswell and Mr. R. Turriff.

Social Functions of the School

"All Work and No Play Makes Jack a Dull Boy."

The various events in the social life of the Collegiate have been very successful during the past year and appreciated very highly both by the visiting public and the students of the school.

The commencement exercises were held November 8, 1912. This is an annual event, to which the public are invited, at which the Academic Prizes and Medals, as won by the successful students of the previous school term, are distributed. During the past few years it has been the policy of the school to distribute, at the same time, the Athletic Prizes and Medals won at the Field Day held early in the fall term. Mrs. G. W. Brown, of Government House, and Mrs. Robert Sinton presented the Academic honors, while Mr. T. B. Patton and Mr. P. McAra Jr. donated the laurals for athletic distinction. Mr. James Balfour, Chairman of the Board of Trustees for the Collegiate Institute, acted as chairman of the evening, and Mr. Hector Lang, B.A., Principal of the Collegiate Institute, read his report of the year's work and progress.

In December, 1912, we had our Annual At Home which is probably the most popular of our social functions. The special guests of the evening were the parents and immediate friends of the students in attendance and the ex-students of the Collegiate. The success of this affair was largely due to the careful work of the students in decorating the Collegiate building and in preparing the very pleasing programme for the evening. The literary programme was given entirely by the students, and, judging from the expressions of appreciation from the audience, it was well given and well received. In the latter part of the evening dancing obtained in the auditorium for the young people, while those who did not participate in this amusement were entertained with lantern slides in the science laboratory. Dainty refreshments were served to the guests during the evening.

The students enjoyed several social evenings among themselves during the winter term. The Seniors entertained with the Middle School as their guests, and this proved of so great pleasure to all that the Middles returned the honor later on by holding a reception for the Seniors. The programme in both events consisted mainly of games, dancing and going home.

Not to be outdone by the Middles and Seniors, the students of the Second Year took themselves for a most enjoyable sleigh-ride, returning to the Collegiate for refreshments and a social time.

This year our hockey was responsible for two further entertainments. When the Saskatoon hockey team visited the school, a banquet was provided for the boys after the game; this was followed by a very pleasant evening. A similar event was occasioned by the visit of the hockey team from the Weyburn Collegiate.

The closing event of the season was the final debate in the Balfour Oratory Contest. The large attendance of the citizens showed the keen interest of the public in the affairs of their Collegiate Institute. His Honor Lieutenant Governor Brown was present and awarded the medals to the successful contestants.

The Cadet Corps

Early in September, 1912, the boys met in the Collegiate Auditorium to reorganise the Collegiate Cadet Corps. They decided to organise two companies, "A Company" to consist of those boys who had attended the Collegiate at least one year, while "B Company," with the exception of the officers, was formed from the new boys.

The following were the officers for the year:

A Company.

Captain.....Fred. Martin
 Lieutenants.....Sr. Subaltern, G. Porter;
 Jr. Subaltern, J. Murray.
 Sergeants.....J. Balfour (colour sergeant),
 B. Ramsay, G. Wells, A.
 Brown.

B Company.

Captain.....W. Hastings
 Lieutenants.....Sr. Subaltern, H. Longworthy;
 Jr. Subaltern, D. MacLean.
 Sergeants.....C. Tanner (colour sergeant),
 H. Stewart, B. Turriff, W.
 Longworthy.

The Cadet Band consisted of:

Buglers.....B. Wells, W. Bee and E.
 Mason.
 Drummers...H. Mason, E. Lauder, and
 B. Parker.

The events in which the Cadets participated were varied and interesting. On October 12 the boys formed the Guard of Honor at the reception tendered the Duke of Connaught by the various schools of the city. At the "Annual At Home" in December the Cadets gave three of the most pleasing numbers of the programme. The first and second of these, namely Physical Drill and Rifle Drill were good illustrations of the general character of the work carried on throughout the year; and the third number given by the "awkward squad," while humorous, showed the difficulties met with in training recruits.

The spring work opened with a paper chase and was won by Beattie Ramsay of "A Company." This was followed a few weeks later by a baseball match in which "B Company" evened up with a win.

The annual review took place on May 26th when Lt. Col. Hosmer inspected the two companies, each of which lined up sixty strong.

Our best wish for the corps is that, as from year to year new boys come into the Collegiate, they will show the same interest as has been shown by every boy in the school during the past year.

Signed: FRED. MARTIN, Captain of "A Company."

WALTER HASTINGS, Captain of "B Company."

FIELD DAY CHAMPIONS

W. HASTINGS (Senior), W. LONGWORTHY (Intermediate),
F. MEARILL (Junior).

Annual Field Day

The Seventh Field Day Sports were held at the Exhibition Grounds on Friday, October 4th. Rain marred the day's programme, and some of the events were run off on the following Monday.

This annual event has for several years been one of the chief features of the school athletics, and this year proved to be the most successful Field Day yet held. The relay team, consisting of C. Tanner, B. Ramsay, H. Longworthy and W. Hastings, showed their superiority over their old-time rivals, the Normal School, winning out in a closely contested race.

In the Senior events Walter Hastings captured the honours for the second successive year, winning six firsts and three seconds. Harold Longworthy was a good second with four firsts and four seconds.

Ward Longworthy was successful in taking the Intermediate championship. "Teddie" Landers and Clarence Tanner made the champion extend himself to win his laurels. All the Intermediate events were closely contested.

"Bing" Merrill captured the honours with ease in the Junior class, taking first place in every event.

The girls took a larger part this year in the sports than they did on any previous year. In the relay races I B won from I A, I C and I D; II B took the honours from II A, while the middle forms defeated the senior form. Good time was made in the different hundred yard events, while Sadie McKee and Belle Hobkirk carried off the honours in throwing the baseball and basketball. The potato race afforded excellent fun but appeared to be a little strenuous for some of the girls.

Our friends down town again donated freely, and we wish to again thank them for the interest they take in the Annual Field Day Event.

M. MACFARLANE.
H. LONGWORTHY.

Baseball

In the spring of 1912 an Inter-Form Baseball League was formed consisting of three teams.

Team No. 1..... Seniors, Junior C and Junior D
Team No. 2..... Middle A, Junior A and Junior B
Team No. 3..... Middle B

Mr. Rossie showed his interest in the Collegiate sports by donating a shield to be competed for annually by the different forms of the school. The shield was won by No. 1 Team. The games were closely contested and a keen interest was taken in them both by the school and throughout the city.

One game was arranged with Moose Jaw Collegiate which was played in Regina on June 8. This resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 7-5.

The Inter-Form Baseball League was re-organised in the spring of 1913 with the following chosen as officers:

Secretary.....	George Porter
Treasurer.....	Arthur Brown
Manager.....	Mr. J. E. Campbell, B.A.
Committee.....	B. Ramsay, W. G. Wilson, John Sheppard and Percy Traub

A team from each of the four years was formed to enter the League. A schedule of twelve games was drawn up and a constitution drafted. Keen interest was taken by the students in the games and good sportsmanship prevailed at all times. The schedule was completed on May 20 without a postponement, and the standing at the close was as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Seniors.....	4	2	.667
Middles.....	4	2	.667
Juniors.....	3	3	.500
Second Year.....	1	5	.166

On the afternoon of May 22, the Middles and Seniors played off for the shield donated by Mr. Rossie. The Middle Form won by the score of 17-11.

The personnel of the various teams was:

Seniors..... Martin, Ramsay, Balfour,
Hastings, Nichol, G. McEwen, Tanner, H. Stewart,
H. Longworthy, Brown.

Middles..... Wilson, Porter, Wells, E. Stewart, Malone, Seale, Robinson, Mr. W. G. Scrimgeour, MacLean.

Second Year..... J. Sheppard, Fiesel, Jefferson, Merrill, E. Storey, Mullen, Walker, Watt, H. McEwen, Bole, W. Longworthy.

Juniors..... Darke, Traub, McLellan, A. Sheppard, Lauder, Hogarth, C. Malone, MacDonald, Sandstrom, Froome, Smith.

The younger boys of the Collegiate formed a team called the Midgets. The committee in charge of the team consisted of Shirley Wood, L. Stewart and Walter Sandstrom. Several games were played with the various schools of the city, and the Midgets gave a good account of themselves, winning all the games but one.

The Senior Team played home and home games with the Moose Jaw Collegiate, which resulted in a win for each school. On account of the lateness of the term the tie was not played off.

an organisation meeting was held. The following officers were elected:

Captain.....J. Balfour
 Manager.....W. J. Scrimgeour
 Secretary Treasurer.....C. Tanner
 Hockey Committee.....G. Porter
B. Ramsay

At this meeting it was decided to enter a team in the City League and also in the Intercollegiate League with Weyburn, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon Collegiates.

In the Intercollegiate League the boys lost the series with Saskatoon by two goals.

The England cup however emblematic of the City League championship, remains at the college for the third successive season. This year the feat was not an easy one but the boys were equal to it. In the play off they defeated the strong Leader team in a clean, fast game by four goals to three.

Good clean play was the outstanding feature of the team's work throughout the season.

The Intermediate team also had a very successful season, and we look to them as next year's Seniors to uphold the high standard of play which has been maintained by all R. C. I. hockey teams.

Association Football

An Association Football Club was organised in the spring of 1912, and, with the aid of a number of graduates, a team was entered in the City League and carried out its schedule of twelve games. This team made a fair showing, standing next to the Capitals, the winners.

In the fall a series of Inter-form games was played, resulting in a victory for the Seniors.

Association Football in 1913 will, it is expected, be carried on as in 1912, except that the League Team will include a number of teachers in addition to the graduates who assisted last year.

Rugby Football

The Rugby Club was reorganised in October of last year for the purpose of playing home-and-home games with Moose Jaw, who had already challenged us, and of giving the boys a chance for out-of-doors exercise.

After a week's hard practice under the management of Mr. Scrimgeour a team was got together composed chiefly of boys who had never played the game before. In the first game with Moose Jaw we were badly beaten, due, no doubt, to the greater experience of the Moose players. The second game was much more closely contested, but we were again defeated, this time by a much smaller margin than in the first game.

We feel that rugby football has come to stay, and next fall we hope to retrieve the defeat administered by our sister institution.

GEORGE PORTER.

Tennis was played by the girls during May and June with a great deal of enthusiasm. Each member was scheduled to play twice a week, and so every one of the girls had an excellent opportunity of becoming proficient at the game and of having invigorating out-door exercise. This spring such a large number have given in their names as playing members that great difficulty will be experienced in giving every one the chance to play as the officials would like.

During the past year, the form which our athletics have chiefly taken has been basketball and hockey.

On Field Day about one-third of the fifty events were open to the girls of the school, and all these were keenly contested. Unfortunately, owing to building operations, we were unable to use the tennis courts during the fall term. We are glad to see that they are again being put into condition for the spring.

Girls' Basketball

The Basketball Association of the Regina Collegiate Institute was organised in September, 1910; reorganised in 1911 and again in 1912, with the following officers:

President..... Belle Hobkirk
 Secretary Treasurer... Mabel Macfarlane
 Supervisors: Adeleine Armstrong
 Marion Muirhead
 Vera McIntyre
 Kathleen Cathcart
 Senior Form..... Emma Martin
 Middle A and B..... Florence Hastings
 H A, B and C..... Dorothy Scott
 Junior A, B C and D. Marguerite Gardiner

Basketball is a sport much enjoyed and heartily entered into by many of the girls of the Collegiate. At the beginning of the year there were nine teams who played scheduled games, each team playing at least once a week.

There have not been any games played outside of Regina this year, and this has diminished to a certain extent the general interest in it, but, nevertheless, there are still some teams who play nearly every week and take a keen interest in the game.

JOURNALIST IS VICTIM OF THUG. UNKNOWN RUFFIAN ASSAULTS AUGUSTE MULLER.

Editor Pluckily Rejects Poem.

Auguste Muller, the editor of THE HARPOONER, was the victim of a dastardly outrage late last night.

While peacefully strolling on the College campus, endeavoring to manufacture the necessary epigrams for his next editorial, Mr. Muller was suddenly accosted by a masked man. Looking round, the editor found himself gazing down the barrel of a six-stanzed ballad of heavy calibre.

Mr. Muller kept his nerve and asked his assailant what he wished. "Give me four columns of space in your next issue, or your life," growled the villain. True to his tenets, Mr. Muller refused, whereupon the villain with a mad shriek discharged two stanzas of the ballad at the editor's head.

Though severely wounded, Mr. Muller endeavored to make his escape. He had, however, barely staggered three paces, when his assailant discharged the third stanza. It took effect and Mr. Muller fell unconscious on the campus.

SLUGGED WITH EPIC.

Seeing him helpless at his feet, the ruffian treated the unfortunate man with the greatest brutality. He discharged the remaining three stanzas into Mr. Muller's body, and endeavored to complete his deadly work by striking the editor with an epic which he had concealed upon his person. Then, hearing approaching footsteps, he fled.

Mr. Muller was found lying unconscious by George Porter, his business manager, and was conveyed to the Library. He was in precarious condition, but restoratives in the shape of a report of the algebra examination having been applied, he recovered, and is now doing well.

The fragments of the ballad found floating at considerable height above the campus, have failed to reveal the identity of the notorious composer. A posse, headed by Detective Cap. Murray, is on the track of the villain.

LIMERICK COMPETITION.

Today we are able to announce the results of our last Limerick competition.

The first, second and third prizes were awarded to Mr. Johnny Hindson, Mr. Danny MacLean and little Murray Farmer. Mr. Johnny Hindson is made richer by the sum of thirty-five cents by a clever use of his poetic ability.

Here is the Limerick:

There was once a beautiful co-ed.
Who said to her dapper young bo-ed.
"How long will you wait, dear?"
"Till I graduate, dear."

Said he, "It is only a dream."

Mr. Johnny Hindson supplied the last line which hits off the situation admirably. It shows the youth's quick grasp of the situation and his terse decision. Unfortunately, he forgot to make the last line rhyme with co-ed, but we considered that such a slight error did not detract from the merit of his contribution.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Society was all agog at the Collegiate last night when Mr. Edouard Aye Stewart gave a stag party to celebrate the anniversary of his birth. The party was held in the auditorium, the scene of so many historic functions. Never was seen such an array of the beauty and wit of this city.

Just as the handsome Collegiate alarm clock commenced to chime out the hour of eight, the Quadrille d'honneur was formed, and the blushing bachelors danced gaily to the sweet strains of the three-pieced orchestra.

Mr. John Jay McNeice received with Mr. Stewart. Mr. Stewart wore a charming new baseball uniform and displayed a delicate breath of chieft de spearmint. Mr. McNeice looked charming in a Louis Riel hat lined with otter.

Mr. Sylvester Kramer displayed his usual pomp. Unfortunately he had to leave early in the evening to rest up for the next day's study.

Mr. Ralph Cushing presented a sort of general appearance which became him exceedingly.

Mr. G. A. Robinson was beautifully attired in a serge de Prussian bleu. His felt-trimmed baseball fan made his appearance all the more striking.

Mr. Jimmy Paterson Nicol wore a flashy suit of Organdy trimmed with Burgundy and purchased in Normandy.

Mr. W. G. Wilson wore a crimson vest de rouge covered with spots de porridge. Mr. Wilson introduced for the first time a dance of his own composition, "Wilson's Clog." The popularity of his masterpiece was evidenced by the enthusiastic applause of the guests.

Mr. Merry Farmer appeared carrying a beautiful cane de willow in which his initials were beautifully carved a la jack-knife.

Mr. George Wells, who was in a neighboring city visiting new acquaintances, was not present.

Mr. Fred. Ross, Mr. R. Williamson, Mr. George Boyd, Mr. Freddy Streib and several others were not invited.

Regina is all agog over the announcement of the marriage of Mr. R. Turriff to Miss Rhina. Previous to this he was engaged to Miss Would-be of Ottawa. It is reported that Miss Would-be is suing him for breach of promise. Rev. Mr. Hitchem is quite sore over the loss of his fee (£17). It is hoped the matter will be settled amicably.

Miss F. Cromie gave a pink tea at her home recently. Among those invited were the Misses Cline, Mitchell, Hogarth, McIntyre and a few others. Mr. McDonald along with some other disreputables who were not invited also attended.

Last evening when Geo. Porter, August Muller, and some other very intimate friends under their employ, namely, Belle Hobkirk, Mabel Macfarlane and Jessie Coleman, were out dining, they asked for some shredded wheat; the waiter, however would not give it to them, and they had to use "Force."

The School Building and Equipment

The Collegiate Institute Building and Grounds are beautiful and spacious. The building is equipped throughout according to the most modern and approved methods.

A large addition is being made to the building this year and, when this is completed, it is expected that the Regina Collegiate Institute will be one of the finest in Western Canada. In addition to the twelve regular class rooms, provision is being made for an art room, a commercial department of two rooms, three science rooms, a teachers' room, a Board room, two students' reading rooms, a library, principal's office, an auditorium and a gymnasium.

A full course in commercial work will be given to those students desiring such training next year. This will extend over two years' time. The chemical and physical laboratories are equipped with up-to-date apparatus of all kinds for demonstration purposes as well as for individual work by students. Recently there has been added to the equipment a motor generator which provides direct current at the students' tables in the laboratories, thus making possible for the students individual work in electrolysis and other experiments in electricity.

Special attention is being given to the course in art. At present all students of the Junior school may continue such training for two years, and, when the present addition to the Collegiate is completed, it is expected that a course in more advanced art will be offered the students of the Middle and Senior school.

A mathematical science laboratory is being fitted up to facilitate the teaching of the practical and mechanical phases of this study.

The new gymnasium will be a strong feature of the Collegiate Institute. All students will be required to take physical training under competent instructors. Lockers, shower baths and dressing rooms are provided for all the students desiring such.

The school library contains books of interest for all students. At present there are about twelve hundred volumes of standard works in History, English, Classics, Modern, Mathematics, Science and Fiction, in addition to such reference books as the Encyclopaedia Britannica, Standard Dictionaries, etc. Special attention has been given to the supplementary reading during the past few years, and every effort is made to develop a love for wider and more extensive reading among the students. The library is an "open library," that the students may have free access at all times to the reference books and those for circulation.

The works of art about the school building are particularly pleasing. Each year a liberal appropriation is made by the Board towards the purchase of pictures and plaster reproductions of famous works of sculpture, all of which tend to create for our students an atmosphere of cheer and a love for the beautiful.

Poets with Power

"Twinkle ! twinkle ! little star," the poet said, and lo !
Way above the earth so far the stars
a-twinkling go. —San Francisco Call.

"Roll on, thou deep blue ocean roll !"
another voice was heard.
And ocean rolls obedient to his mandatory word. —Louisville Herald.

"Blow, blow, thou winter wind," the third
one gave command.
And every winter now we hear it blow to beat the band. —Boston Transcript.

"Thou, too, sail on, O ship of State," a poet once did sing;
And ever since that ship of State's been doing that same thing. —Yonkers Statesman.

How Do You Do ?

"How can you, friend," the Swedish say
The Dutch, "How do you fare?"
"How do you have yourself to-day?"

Has quite a Polish air.
In Italy, "How do you stand?"
Will greet you every hour;

In Turkey, when one takes your hand,
"Be under God's great power !"
"How do you carry you?" is heard
When Frenchmen do inquire;

While Egypt's friendly greeting word
Is, "How do you perspire?"

"Thin may thy shadows never grow !"
The Persian wish is true;

His Arab cousin, bowing low,
Says, "Praise God ! How are you?"

But oddest of them all is when
Two Chinese meet, for thrice
They shake their own two hands and then
Ask, "Have you eaten rice?"

—H. BEDFORD JONES.

The Peril of "Buttin' In."

The owner of a dry goods store heard a new clerk say to a customer:

"No, madam, we have not had any for a long time."

With a fierce glance at the clerk the smart employer rushed up to the woman and said:

"We have plenty of everything in reserve, ma'am; plenty upstairs."

The customer and the clerk looked dazed. Then the proprietor seeing that something was wrong, said to the customer: "Excuse me, what did you ask for?"

The woman simply replied: "Why, I said to your clerk that we hadn't had any rain lately."

Patience, diligence, quiet and unfatigued perseverance, industry, regularity, and economy of time, as these are the dispositions I would labour to excite, so these are the qualities I would warmly recommend.—Hannah More.

The price of retaining what we know is always to seek to know more. We preserve our learning and mental power only by increasing them.—Henry Darling.

Henry, John and Herbert are three brothers. The combined ages of Henry and Herbert seven years hence will be $3\frac{1}{2}$ times that of John's age five years ago if John had been born three years earlier than was actually the case. Their uncle leaves them a certain sum of money which is divided between them in proportion to their ages. Herbert's share being £2,643 17s. 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.

Henry steals two-thirds of John's share and seventeen-eightieths of Herbert's share, but through a hole in his trousers pocket he loses as many half-crowns as he has guineas. How much can he afford to spend on Christmas presents if he first buys £647 stock at 89 132-135 (brokerage at $\frac{1}{8}$ per cent.) and a packet of cigarettes at 3d.? Readers must not forget death duties, income tax and compound interest at the rate of $4\frac{7}{8}$ per cent. Henry's little theft occurred seventeen years after the brothers inherited their money.

In fact what we learn at school and in college is but the foundation of the great work of self-instruction and mutual instruction with which the real education of life begins when what is commonly called education is finished.
